teaching for dissent looks at the implications of new forms of dissent for educational practice the reappearance of dissent in political meetings and street protests opens new possibilities for improved democratic life and citizen participation this book argues that this possibility will not be fulfilled if schools do not cultivate the skills necessary for our citizens to engage in political dissent the authors look at how practices in schools such as the testing regime and the hidden curriculum suppress students ability to voice ideas that stand in opposition to the status quo teaching for dissent calls for a realignment of the curriculum and the practices of schooling with a guiding vision of democratic participation this volume underlines the relevance of an empirical data based and scientifically informed approach to the teaching of a second or foreign language even though the contributions gathered here carry out this task through very different means and with various theoretical underpinnings this is evident especially in the different and versatile perspectives on academic issues in the linguistic and methodological sections of the volume the contributions here are assembled according to their disciplinary categories of linguistics methodology of teaching english and cultural and literary studies
